Gapes of Fowls.

(Gerald McCarthy, Entomologist Experiment Station.) "Gapes" is a disease well known to most growers of poultry, and often destroys whole broods of young chicks. The disease is caused by a very slender, thread-like, reddish nematoid worm, chealis. This worm is characterized by the permanent union of the paired sexes, and cannot be parted without rupturing the bodies. The f

The matured worms are found only in the wind-pipe of fowls to which they cling leech-like on the walls, sucking the blood of the parts. The female of each pair produces 2,000 to 3,000 eggs which remain within her body until she dies. They are then loosed by the decay of the parent body, and if they within the wind-pipe of the fowl the young worms emerge from the shell in a few days, and in a few days are mature couples and begin to reproduce eggs. The hatching of the egg occurs only when it is kept constantly moist and at a temperature of about 68 degrees F. The sexes never pair except in the wind-pipe of a fowl. If the temperature is below 60 degrees F. the eggs will not hatch, but will retain their vitality for a year or more, pro-vided they are kept moist, hence contagious gapes is a wet land disease. When the affected fowl gapes and coughs for breath some of the worms with their eggs are ejected into the water troughs where the fowls frequently congregate, evidently trying to allay the inflammation in the windpipe by drinking copiously. The

The storm struck Oxford at 3 minutes before 5 o'clock p. m. It was a local whirl within the area of a general whirl within the area of a general storm passing over the state from south to north, and occurred just at the moment the "critical line" or trough of low pressure passed Oxford. It is remarkable that there was an entire absence of any close or murky feeling such as is usually said to precede a tornado. The day was cool, the temperasuch as is usually said to precede a tornado. The day was cool, the temperature was about 70 degrees; a moderate of all sorts are grown in North Carolina satisfied me long ago that a profitable industry could be built up here in this line. Few people who are not familiar with the days of the same and the same and the same are not satisfied to the same are n familiar with the flower trade realize the vast sums spent annually for bulbs of Hyacinths, Tulips, Narcissus, Lilies "and so I rode over into the crowd with and the like. The Gladiolus particularly is more adapover thirty years makes me feel cer-tain that for Lilies and Dutch Hya-cinths, at least, the black soils of the coast region are far superior to any other in the State. They are in fact the same character of soil as that of Holland in a climate incomparably superior to that of Holland. If this culture is once started in North Carolina by men of experience there is no doubt that a good and profitable dustry will be added to the State, myself, and lately a large Dutch grow-er of bulbs at Haarlem in Holland, wrote to Mr. Allen for further informa-

In speaking of soil needed, this gentleman says of Hyacintha, "they are planted in different grounds: one transferring his business to this country. In speaking of soil needed, this gentleman says of Hyacintha, "they are planted in different grounds: one transferring his black to the country of the co year in a sandy one, another in a black humus ground. Therefore it is of great interest to choose a country where different grounds are to be found. Also that the ground must be situated so that it will not suffer from drought, nor where the bulbs will be drowned out." These conditions are easily found in the coast country of North Carolina. We are strongly hopes that this gentleman may duced to come here and start this busi-ness, which has been the source of so much wealth to Holland and for which our soils and climate are far superior. hand indicate. It will amuse you, if nothing more. The above diagram almost explains itself. The length of the LINE OF LIFE indicates probable age to which you will live. Each BRACELET gives you thirty years. Well-marked LINE OF HEAD denotes brain power; clear LINE OF PORTUNE, fame or riches. Both combined mean success in life; but you must keep up with modern ideas to win it. You will find plenty of these in Demorest's Family Magazine, so attractively presented that every member of the family is entertained. It is a dozen magazines in one. A CLEAR LINE OF HEART bespeaks tenderness; a straight LINE OF PATE, peaceful life; the reverse if crooked. A well-defined LINE OF HEALTH spares you doctors' bills; so will the health hints in Demorest's. No other magazine publishes so many stories to interest the home circle. You will be subject to extremes of high spirits or despondency if you have the GIRDLE OF VENUS well marked; keep up your spirits by having Demorest's Magazine to read. By subscribing to it for 1894 you will receive a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value, besides the supero premium picture, 17:22 inches, "I'm a Daisy's" which is almost a real baby, and equal to the original oil painting which cost $300 and you will have a magazine that cannot be equaled by any in the world for its beautiful illustrations ami subject matter, that will keep you posted on all the topics of the day, and all the fasts, and different items of interest about the household, besides furnishing interesting reading matter, both grave and gay, for the whole family; and while Demorest's is not a fashion magazine, its fashion pages are perfect, and you get with it, free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in your subscription at once, only $2.00, and you will really get over $25.00 in value. Address the publisher. W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th St. New York. The plan as outlined by Gov. Our system sets a premium upon Boies contains nothing new. It is the same old contrivance tried over years. As a plan for restricting the use of intoxicating liquors, the re- ing, leading, illuminating spirit, cord is against it. As a plan for collecting public revenue, it is contrary to good morals and good concience. A license traffic has all the bad features of other forms of private monopoly. The increased reyennes which the traffic must proide under this plan acts as a whin and spur to increase the sale, and with it, the evils attending the use of strong drink. Instead of making the traffic yield a larger revenue by making larger sales, as the license plan proposes, it would seem to be wisdom to reverse the plan and taking out all profits, to destroy the incentive for extending the traffic beyond the line of useful purposes. Private profit is the life of the traffic A great proportion of the evils result from the seductive places and attractive forms through which it is presented to the people-all because of the profit to be had from its sale. Cut off the profit by state ownership and the saloon traffic would die as tree withers plucked up by the roots.
